A Notice to Correspondents.

We constantly receive communications for publication accompanied by the request that they be resurred if not published. By referring to our business directions, printed at the head of the editorial columns of the Courses Journals, it will be seen that we cannot undertake to return rejected articles. This rule is indisponsable and unvarying. We may also say, in the same connection, that we receive a great deal of matter of literary merit, which we do not and cannot use because of its unsuitability to the columns of a daily newspaper. We advise our literary fetends to send their contributions in proce and verse to the literary weeklies. A journal is not a periodical; and we have often to decline very creditable productions because of their unfiness. Nor can we on any account consent to furnish critical opisions as to the merit of articles forwarded for that purpose.

No Democrat who is stripped of his property by the chartered marsuders is ever to receive a farthing of compensation. Every Democrat, no matter how carfully and how far he has stood aloof from all and how far he has stood aloof from all strife, is held to be a legitimate victim of pillage, phinder and freebootery. If Clay-ton had the necessary power and daring, he would confiscate the property of every Democrat in Arkshasa, and evan the breath of every Democrat's mouth. General P. says that the Democrats desire that whatever is necessary to be done shall be done by the United States troops, but that the Governor and his triends prefer the services of the raging militia. It is stated as one reason why Governor C. & Co. prefer the militia yet a little longer. We are aware of the provocation they have received and declined. We are aware of the fact that the Kuklux Klan is a mere neighborhood soimpartially, punishing offenders against the public peace without reference to politics, but the black and scalawag militia, fully And the ruthless hand stopped not here. Not content with arousing our soul's wrath against our leng-trusted and fondly acquainted with every citizen's political character, can punish innocent Democrats and protect guilty Radicals at pleasure. Another reason given by Porter why the Governor depresates the employing of Federal troops in Arkansas is that it would create "an expenditure of United States money." Well, we presume that the em-ploying of the Arkansas militia creates an expenditure of Arkansas money, if there is such a thing as Arkansas money to be expended. The British papers oasted much of the success of this great and expensive enterprise, and the British people generally and the people of this country, North and South, were under the wide-spread conviction upon both continents that, even if the South, restored to peace, should raise as much and as excellent cotton as she ever raised, she would find no sale for it in Europe. But the grand East India experiment has failed It has a limit of the presence of the presenc grand East India experiment has failed It has fallen, abandoned, to the ground. The answer was: The affair has been represented to his Majesty in a false light, as if Arnold had rented the mill from Geradorf, who had made a new fish pond, and thereby withstarding, insisted upon the rent, and finally ejected the miller by means of an unjust decision. The real state of things is then stated at length. The answers were in the negative. "The earlyce of diligation of the negative. In this "Opinion" it was also set forth that the sontence had been passed by the President and the six Counselors, that one of them (Ranaleen) had fully and impartially set forth his doubts about the insufficiently examined state of the water and then it one of the spinned state of the water and the high time selfects of the pound, and that one of the spinned state of the water and the right to make a pond, depriving thereby Arnold of his water, and that the point must be more fully examined. The minister had the creditors consulted, and they refused again. Now the following strict order was issued from the Cabinet: "We, Troyal power and on pell of our highest displeasure, to secure to N. Munchhausen drew up an order to that effect, act, however, as coming from the minister of justice, but from the cabinet itself, and said in the report, which he lad with the order before the kine: "An order contrary to a strict of the court of the contrary to the court of the court VIRTUOUS CHICAGO. This consideration has a further bearing upon the equally questionable plea that there was no evidence to show that adoration was intended by kneeling. The court would, in any case, find it very difficult to judge of intentions and sentiments, and consequently it is all the more necessary that it should judge strictly of "outward movements." On this point, in short, Mr. Mickonochie had violated a distinct Rubric, and the question could not, therefore, be referred to the direction of the bishop.

The use of lighted candles raised a question of even greater signessions and importance.

Tetlerday Frankfort was full of editors, and, though the convention got through with its labors and adjourned size die about 4 P. N., still an occasional height of the quill may be encountered here and there, both, ne doubt, it leave the structions of the seast of government for the toil and tadium of the sanctum. The Convention of Kentincky Editors, with leaventh of Ward would have said, was success. Its members have left a most favorable impression. A better looking or more intelligent set of geatlemen have sarely assembled at the capital of this or any other State. And, to their credit, too, be it said, nothing was done which was not in credient tests. The necessity of an organized press association has long been felt, and it is matter of ne small gratification that such organization has at last been successfully accomplished.

JURE FERNILL MINERAL REFITERY.

Just prior to the adjournment of the convention, Co. Hodges, acting in the absence of Mr. Prentice, as President, extended, in behalf of the keeper, a formal invitation to the members of the press to pay a visit to the Peccheminded Institute. The invitation af-merely been repaired is 1779.

Several witnesses deposed that Arnold could not grind is 1770 to 1773 on account of high water, that there had been no water for several years, that the mill had been dilapidated, the dam perferated, so that all the water estimated. The miller appealed again to the King, who ordered the Supreme Court at Berlin to adjust the court of the Cou

Mr. Prentice, as Fresident, extended, in behalf of the keeper, a formal invitation to the members of the press to pay a visit to the Peeble-minded institute. The invitation afforded some amusement among the more volatile members of the press on account of the peesle minded institution they were called on to inspect. It was taken, however, as it was meant, and accepted by as many as could make it convenient to remain over until to-day at 1 o'clock, the hour fixed upon for the visit. The visit to the institute was most satisfactory, and the conviction of its utility under the management of Dr. Abbott, so far as I could learn, universal.

The first grand ball of the season will be given on the 20th instant at the Gapital Hotel, on which occasion no pains will be spared by the Assembly Ball Club to make it the most elegant thing of the kind that has ever come off at Frankfort. It is expected that the beauty, fashion and chivalry of the State will be represented to an extent almost, if not quite, unprecedented. 'I am informed that it is in contemplation to follow up the affair of the 39th on the succeeding Friday with a bal manue. If Frankfort is not unusually gay this winter, it will be no fault of the Assembly Club.
